Past Nationals nominees include John Lannan (2009) and Ryan Zimmerman (2007).

Nationals Player Programs – 2010

John Lannan
Lannan's Cannons
In 2009 John launched Lannan's Cannons, a program dedicated to helping sick children have a day with their family at the ballpark away from the rigors of treatment. John partnered with The Children's Inn at National Institutes of Health (NIH) - a home-away-from-home for children receiving experimental treatment for life-threatening illnesses - to host residents at Sunday Nationals home games. The families enjoyed the ballgame and concessions while at the park. Serving as a Sports Ambassador for the Inn, John has visited with residents and appeared on local television news broadcasts to help increase awareness of their mission.

Josh Willingham
Josh Willingham Foundation
In 2009, Josh and his wife Ginger established the Josh Willingham Foundation, aiming to give back to the communities they have lived in throughout Josh's career, with a focus on their hometown of Florence, Alabama. The goal of the Foundation is to provide life-changing opportunities and experiences to underserved children. The Josh Willingham Foundation's first project is building a public playground in Florence.

Ryan Zimmerman
ziMS Foundation
Multiple Sclerosis (MS) is a disease close to Ryan's heart as his mother was diagnosed with MS in 1995. The ziMS Foundation, launched in 2006, aims to raise money for MS awareness and programs benefitting those afflicted with the disease. The Foundation hosts an annual gala and golf tournament each November in Ryan's hometown of Virginia Beach. Ryan is on the board of trustees for the National MS Society National Capital Chapter to do his part to help find a cure.

Washington Nationals First Ladies
Nationals players wives and girlfriends participate in the team's community relations efforts each year by making appearances, and assisting with publicity and collections for various drives hosted by the team.

Employee Volunteer Program
Nationals players aren't the only ones who give back to the local community – the Nationals Front Office staff participates in many volunteers opportunities as well. Beginning in fall 2009 employees became involved with a mentoring program at Amidon-Bowen Elementary through Everybody Wins! DC. Employees spend one hour each week participating in the Power Lunch program, reading with a child. Staff also took part in volunteer dates at partner organizations including Food & Friends, the Capital Area Food Bank, Earth Conservation Corps and Rebuilding Together, DC. The Nationals look forward to expanding their employee volunteer program in 2010.

THE LERNER FAMILY - PRINCIPAL OWNERS

Theodore N. Lerner, along with his wife Annette, his son Mark D. Lerner, daughters Debra Lerner Cohen and Marla Lerner Tanenbaum, his daughter-in-law Judy Lenkin Lerner, and his sons-in-law Edward L. Cohen and Robert K. Tanenbaum are the principal owners of the Washington Nationals. The Lerner family purchased the team from Major League Baseball in July, 2006.

As long-time Washington area residents and proud stewards of the National Pastime in the Nation's Capital, the entire Lerner family is committed to franchise excellence both on the field and off. They have worked closely with the outstanding Nationals staff to ensure that Nationals Park provides the most fan-friendly, accessible and affordable experience available for Washington area families and sports fans. Focused on every aspect of the fan ballpark experience, the Lerner family applies the same dedication to high quality that is the hallmark of their award-winning development of millions of square feet of Washington-area office, hotel and retail properties – including Washington Square at 1050 Connecticut Avenue, Tysons II, White Flint, Greenbelt Marriott, Dulles Town Center, 2000 Tower Oaks Boulevard and 20 M Street, SE, the award–winning new office building one block from Nationals Park. As ground-breaking visionaries in environmental development, the Lerner family is committed to building "green." Nationals Park is the first Major League Baseball ballpark to be LEED® certified by the U.S. Green Building Council, and features reduced energy consumption, stringent waste management, and effective use of recycled materials.

The Nationals, under Lerner family ownership, have worked carefully to construct a team that can compete long-term. Through player development, smart trades and drafts, the team is coming together and expects to be a challenger in the 2010 season. In the off-season, President Stan Kasten, General Manager Mike Rizzo, and Manager Jim Riggleman have worked with an expanded scouting and development staff to bring on veteran players like pitcher Jason Marquis, catcher Ivan Rodriguez, reliever Brian Bruney and closer Matt Capps. These experienced players, combined with the new arms of Stephen Strasburg and Drew Storen, should reinforce the talents of fan favorites like Ryan Zimmerman, Nyjer Morgan and Adam Dunn and ensure that every game of the 2010 season is exciting and memorable.

Through the team's community relations and the Washington Nationals Dream Foundation, and privately through The Annette M. and Theodore N. Lerner Family Foundation, the Lerner family has demonstrated its commitment to the people and neighborhoods of the Washington area. Players and staff are encouraged to be active participants in the team's community outreach and the organization is proud that Nationals players are visiting schools, hospitals and neighborhoods nearly every day of every homestand. In addition to its work with Boys & Girls Clubs, the Earth Conservation Corps, the Pediatric Diabetes Care Facility at Children's National Medical Center, and other area organizations, the Dream Foundation has joined with the District to build the Washington Nationals Youth Baseball Academy – a unique facility that will provide inner city youth with the opportunity to develop their baseball skills while fostering their academic and social development.

As representatives of the national pastime in the nation's capital, the Lerner family is also proud to honor and support its extensive armed forces and military veterans community. Members of the active and retired military are welcomed and honored at every single Nationals home game, and the team is continuously finding new ways to make Nationals Park a second home to our servicemen and servicewomen.

Additionally, Lerner family members are privately involved in a wide range of Washington, DC-area community programs and events. Through The Annette M. and Theodore N. Lerner Family Foundation they support many organizations, including The George Washington University; Food and Friends; the Hebrew University of Jerusalem; Hadley's Park; The John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts; the Weizmann Institute of Science; the Scleroderma Foundation of Greater Washington; YouthAids; Junior Achievement of the Greater Washington Area; the Jewish Community Centers of Greater Washington and District of Columbia; The Jewish Federation of Greater Washington; and Imagination Stage of Bethesda, among many others. Ted and his wife Annette are founding members of the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum in Washington, D.C.

Welcome!

Like our loyal and ardent Washington Nationals fans, we hope the club's seven game winning streak which closed out the 2009 season, plus our aggressive front office moves this winter, will spell an exciting and winning 2010 Major League Baseball schedule.

Hometown fans will long remember the dramatic walk-off grand slam by Bethesda-born and University of Maryland graduate Justin Maxwell in the season finale at Nationals Park. They will also remember how he represented just one of a number of young heroes who found ways to piece together the kind of late season wins that give Nationals fans everywhere faith that the momentum will carry over until this spring.

But Nationals Park was a great place for the NatsTown faithful all year long: Zimmerman's Gold Glove season at third base and 30-game hitting streak, Dunn's 38 home runs, and the thrilling arrival of Nyjer Morgan - who played a nearly flawless centerfield while also batting .351 and stealing 24 bases. All those performances, and more, meant that every game of the national pastime in the nation's capital was one to remember.

We savored the wins over the New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium and against the Boston Red Sox in front of a record sellout crowd at Nationals Park. Those exciting victories combined with the eight-game winning streak in July gave fans glimpses of the consistent competitor that we intend to become in the very near future.

The team has been hard at work in the off-season to build that contender: In addition to the respected baseball minds of President Stan Kasten, General Manager Mike Rizzo, and Manager Jim Riggleman, the club has newly reinforced scouting and coaching departments. Together, they worked tirelessly to ensure the Nationals have the pieces in place to legitimately compete and win. To support the pitching arms of number one draft pick Stephen Strasburg and tenth pick Drew Storen, we've added veteran starter Jason Marquis, reliever Brian Bruney, closer Matt Capps and catcher Ivan Rodriguez, the perennial major league favorite and 14-time All Star. We expect this year's team on the field to be deeper and more athletic at every position.

Off the field, it's important to this organization that we continue to have a presence in every corner of our community. We believe the national pastime is a great way to engage children and change lives and we're proud that our players are reaching out in our neighborhoods all season long. Central to our efforts, the Washington Nationals Dream Foundation has partnered with MLB and the District of Columbia and looks forward to breaking ground on our new youth baseball academy. We're hoping that this model public-private partnership will give even more children a chance to play baseball and benefit from after-school programming. The team is also committed to its work with its cornerstone programs the Boys & Girls Clubs, the Children's National Medical Center for the Diabetes Care Complex, and Earth Conservation Corps.

During baseball season, nothing compares to a game in beautiful Nationals Park. We've continued to make enhancements -- like those in the Red Porch and the PNC Diamond Club -- that guarantee our ballpark is the place to be for hometown fans and out-of-town visitors. Our in-stadium chefs from Levy Restaurants have transformed the dining experience and will continue to find new ways to please and surprise our fans.

While 2009 was full of unforgettable moments, we hope that 2010 will be the season that Nationals fans will long remember as the year that our hopes for building a Major League Baseball contender took flight.

Sincerely,

Theodore N. Lerner Mark D. Lerner Edward L. Cohen Robert K. Tanenbaum

STAN KASTEN
PRESIDENT

Stan Kasten was officially introduced as Nationals President on May 3, 2006. His name and reputation are well known throughout the sporting landscape, seemingly no matter one's favorite athletic pastime.

In 1999, Kasten became the first person to hold the title of president of three different teams in three different major sports simultaneously. He accomplished this unique feat with MLB's Atlanta Braves, the NBA's Atlanta Hawks and the NHL's Atlanta Thrashers. At the same time, Kasten also served as TBS Vice President of Sports Teams and Chairman of Philips Arena.

Although his professional career is highlighted by the Braves 1995 World Championship, his Braves and Hawks made a combined 30 post-season appearances and claimed 15 division titles, including 12 straight during the Braves' unprecedented run from 1991-2003.

Now, in Washington, Kasten is re-energizing a dormant baseball fan base and simultaneously establishing a crown-jewel franchise in the World's Most Powerful City.

Kasten will rely heavily on Three Pillars—scouting and player development, enhancing the fan experience, and community outreach—to accomplish the goal of establishing a franchise built on long-term success, both on and off the field. To do so, Kasten will draw heavily on experiences gained with the Braves, who were at a similar stage upon his arrival in 1987.

Kasten has been tasked with strengthening a Nationals scouting and player development system which had lagged in recent years. Kasten's reputation helped Senior Vice President & General Manager Mike Rizzo attract the likes of Roy Clark, Ron Schueler, Davey Johnson, Kasey McKeon and Johnny DiPuglia to join the Nationals' new baseball operations grouping.

Kasten's leadership and experience—the common thread in the successes of the Atlanta Hawks in the 1980s, the Braves of the 1990s and the Thrashers of the new millennium—also extends to the constructions of state-of-the-art sports venues.

This background served Kasten—and ultimately baseball fans—well in Washington, as Nationals Park opened its gates in front of an international television audience on March 30, 2008.

While in Atlanta, Kasten oversaw the construction of Turner Field as it was sculpted from Atlanta's Olympic Stadium. Kasten also quarterbacked the planning and construction of Philips Arena, the home of the Hawks and Thrashers, and site of the 2003 NBA All-Star and 2008 NHL All-Star games. Atlanta's newest sports venue opened in 1999 and continues to gain accolades for its uniqueness and top-notch fan amenities.

During his tenure with Atlanta, Kasten's Braves included, among others John Smoltz, Chipper Jones, Andruw Jones, Greg Maddux, Tom Glavine, Terry Pendleton, Deion Sanders, David Justice, Brian Jordan, but it was Kasten's ability to convince then-General Manager Bobby Cox to return to the dugout in a managerial role that sparked the Braves' string of 14 straight division titles, five NL pennants and one World Championship.

STAN KASTEN

During baseball's renaissance in Atlanta, the Braves posted more wins than any team in baseball and drew in excess of three million fans on six occasions. Kasten also served baseball as Chairman of the Player Personal Development Committee, and on various committees dealing with labor, realignment and expansion.

In November of 1979, Kasten was named Hawks General Manager, and thus, became the youngest GM in NBA history at the age of 27. Kasten was named Hawks President in 1986, yet retained the role of GM until 1990. He remains the only person in NBA history to be named by his peers as "Executive of the Year" in consecutive seasons (1986 and '87). Kasten has served on the NBA's marketing committee, the player pension committee and the expansion committee. He is also a former trustee of the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

During his career with the Hawks, the team made tremendous strides on the court and at the gate. Over the latter half of the 1980s, the team posted four consecutive 50-win seasons and subsequent playoff berths, and set numerous team records in attendance. In the '90s, the Hawks posted a trio of 50-win seasons en route to seven straight playoff appearances.

In November of 1999, during Atlanta's inaugural NHL season, Kasten was named President and Governor of the Thrashers. His goals mirrored those achieved with the Braves, to construct a team built for the long haul. The Thrashers have been one of the more successful expansion teams in NHL history. Kasten enjoyed positions on both the NHL's Board of Governors and Executive Committee.

As the Nationals begin to spread their wings internationally, Kasten will lend expertise gained with TBS and the Hawks, the first team to widely draft international players. In the summer of 1988, Kasten's Hawks became the first NBA team to visit the USSR.

Kasten's introduction to pro sports management came as a result of a 1976 meeting at a Braves-Cardinals game with Braves owner Ted Turner, when Kasten was celebrating his law school graduation with a tour of major league ballparks. Soon after, he was appointed legal counsel for the Braves and Hawks, and one year later (1977-78) became the Hawks' Assistant General Manager.

Kasten was born February 1, 1952, in Lakewood, NJ. He attended New York University, where he graduated in 1973 with a degree in psychology, earned magna cum laude honors and was chosen Phi Beta Kappa. He received a Juris Doctor degree from Columbia Law School in 1976. He played in the Jersey Shore Summer Baseball League during his law school years.

Kasten is on the Board of Directors of the Sports Lawyers Association, which awarded him their coveted "Award of Excellence" in May 2000. In 2010, Kasten was inducted into the Junior Achievement Atlanta Business Hall of Fame.

Stan and his wife, Helen, live in Foggy Bottom and have four children.

BOB WOLFE
EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Bob Wolfe is entering his fifth season in Washington after joining the Nationals as Executive Vice President on June 1, 2006.

Wolfe's responsibilities with the Nationals touch on all aspects of the club's various business and administrative areas, including ballpark operations and development, finance and budget management, information technology, sales and marketing, non-baseball events through Nationals Ballpark Enterprises, legal, ticket operations, Florida spring training operations, food service and human resources.

Wolfe's leadership and experience have helped shape the Nationals' modern-day front office, and its business practices and ballpark policies. From the time he was hired in 2006, as the Lerner family took ownership of the Nationals' franchise from Major League Baseball, Wolfe has managed the growth and development of the front-office staff, lent experience to the design and development of Nationals Park, and steadied the ballclub's transition from RFK Memorial Stadium into their new, state-of-the-art ballpark in the winter of 2008.

While quickly becoming a premier baseball facility, Nationals Park also has been established as a premier events, entertainment and concert venue, having hosted events as varied as Pope Benedict XVI's Papal Mass in April, 2008, and the Elton John/Billy Joel Face 2 Face Tour in 2009.

He previously served with both the Atlanta Braves and Atlanta Hawks, including over a decade as Braves Sr. Vice President of Administration (1992-2003). While with the Braves, Wolfe was directly involved with the design and development of Turner Field, and responsible for its related sales, marketing and operational plans following the ballpark's conversion from Olympic Stadium before the 1997 baseball season.

During Wolfe's tenure the Braves experienced record attendance levels, with annual attendance consistently greater than three million. Wolfe and the Braves hosted eleven consecutive post-seasons, including four World Series, and staged Major League Baseball's 2000 All-Star Game and multiple major concerts.

After working in various areas for the Braves' from 1980-84, Wolfe accepted a post as Hawks Business Manager in 1985. He was named Vice President/Business Manager of the NBA franchise in 1988. His seven seasons with the Hawks were during a period of significant growth for both the team and the league, as both record attendance and revenue levels were achieved by both.

While in Atlanta, Wolfe served on the board of directors for the Atlanta Hawks Foundation and the Atlanta Braves Foundation, as well as the Atlanta Sports Council and the Atlanta Convention & Visitors Bureau. In 1998 he was named the Georgia Minority Supplier Development Council's Executive of the Year for the Braves' successful efforts in developing ties with the small business community.

Raised to the play-by-play of Bob Prince in Pittsburgh, Harry Kalas in Philadelphia and Ernie Johnson, Sr. in Atlanta, Wolfe graduated from Oglethorpe University in Atlanta in 1980. Bob and his wife, Kelly Koelker, have one daughter, Ellery.

MIKE RIZZO
SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT & GENERAL MANAGER

Mike Rizzo was appointed Senior Vice President & General Manager on August 20, 2009. He joined the organization as Assistant General Manager and Vice President of Baseball Operations on July 24, 2006. Rizzo's hiring was the first significant addition made by the organization after the Lerner Family officially took control of the Nationals the same day. Rizzo's arrival in D.C. punctuated the Nationals' scouting momentum gained in both international and domestic scouting circles.

Since assuming all General Manager functions for the Nationals in March of 2009, Rizzo has secured the long-term signing of franchise staple Ryan Zimmerman, promoted Jim Riggleman to Manager and successfully signed first-round righthanders Stephen Strasburg (first overall) and Drew Storen.

Rizzo's deft trade touch was evident in a culture-changing trade that netted Nyjer Morgan and Sean Burnett from the Pirates. He also dealt Joe Beimel and Nick Johnson in Trade Deadline deals that will benefit the Nationals long term.

His first major task as General Manager was to lay a steady hand on the Nationals' operation in the Dominican Republic, scout and establish a one-year alternative complex arrangement and execute a subsequent relocation to Boca Chica. Rizzo is also currently overseeing the construction of a new Nationals facility in the Dominican Republic.

In his first two-plus seasons in Washington, Rizzo participated in all facets of the baseball operation, including but not limited to player acquisitions, contract negotiations, arbitration preparation and player evaluations. He also oversees Washington's Major League, Professional and International scouting activities. Rizzo's expertise and relationship-building have breathed new life into the Nationals' international efforts.

The initial return upon Rizzo joining the Nationals was spectacular, as the Nationals' 2007 First-Year Player Draft—Rizzo's first with the organization—was rated as the best in baseball by Baseball America.

Rizzo joined the Nationals after spending the previous seven seasons with the Arizona Diamondbacks, primarily as Director of Scouting. Following the 2005 campaign, when eight Diamondback players were honored with individual awards and/or designations to their leagues' All-Star teams, Rizzo was promoted, earning the title of Vice President of Scouting Operations after the Diamondbacks were named Topps' Organization of the Year.

In 2001, upon being named Arizona's Director of Scouting, the Diamondbacks' minor-league system ranked 29th in baseball according to Baseball America. Five highly successful drafts and a few hundred thousand miles traveled later, Arizona's system was ranked No. 1 in baseball by the same publication entering the 2006 season.

Rizzo earned a World Series ring with Arizona in 2001, but the fruits of his labor did not end there for the Diamondbacks. Brandon Webb (2006 Cy Young Award winner), Chad Tracy, Justin Upton, Stephen Drew, Dan Uggla, Micah Owings, Tony Pena, Mark Reynolds, Conor Jackson, Miguel Montero, Chris Snyder, Carlos Quentin, Max Sherzer and Brett Anderson were drafted by Arizona under Rizzo's watch. While with the White Sox, Rizzo inked future two-time American League MVP Frank Thomas.

Rizzo, who is entering his 28th season of pro ball, joined the Diamondbacks for their inaugural 1998 campaign after enjoying stints with the Boston Red Sox (1992-98, area supervisor, international scout and major league advance scout) and Chicago White Sox (1986-92, Midwest and Southeast territorial scout).

Raised in Chicago, IL, Rizzo spent four seasons as a minor league player in the Angels organization before retiring and beginning a coaching career at the University of Illinois, where he served as an assistant coach while earning a Bachelor of Arts in Communications.

ROY CLARK
ASSISTANT GM & VP, PLAYER PERSONNEL

Roy Clark was named Nationals Vice President of Player Personnel on October 16, 2009.

Clark joins the Nationals after an impressive 11-year run as Director of Scouting with the Atlanta Braves. Clark joined the Braves as an area scout in 1989, and he later enjoyed progressive stints as Atlanta's national supervisor (1996-99) and southeast supervisor (1995). His efforts helped the Braves earn Baseball America's prestigious Organization of the Year award three times (1991, 1996, 2005) and USA Today's Organization of the Year citation in 1996. Clark sports a World Series ring from the Braves' 1995 World Championship campaign.

Clark is best known for having procured talents such as catcher Brian McCann, right-handed pitcher Tommy Hanson, right-handed pitcher Adam Wainwright, infielder Mark DeRosa, right-handed pitcher Joey Devine, right-handed pitcher Jason Marquis, right-handed pitcher Kevin Millwood, catcher Jarrod Saltalamacchia and outfielder Jeff Francoeur for the Braves. Meanwhile, Braves minor-league outfielder Jason Heyward was recently cited as Baseball America's 2009 Minor League Player of the Year and is regarded by many as baseball's top prospect among position players.

Clark previously worked for Indians (area scout, 1988-89) and Mariners (minor-league coach, 1984; area scout, 1985-86).

An All-ACC infielder at North Carolina in 1979, Clark was selected by Seattle in the 24th round of the June Draft that same year. He played four professional seasons, advancing as high as Triple-A in 1982.

Clark and his wife, Debbie, have three children: Justin, Travis and Lauren.

RON SCHUELER
SENIOR ADVISOR TO THE GENERAL MANAGER

Ron Schueler joined the Nationals as Special Advisor to the General Manager on November 3, 2009.

Schueler brings 42 years of professional baseball experience to the Washington Nationals after serving the previous two seasons as Senior Advisor of Player Personnel for the San Francisco Giants.

Schueler is perhaps best known for having served as the Chicago White Sox General Manager and Sr. Vice President of Major League Operations (1990-2000), during which his clubs compiled an 817-734 record and a .527 winning percentage while finishing first or second in the AL Central or West eight times, including a pair of division titles in 1993 and 2000. In the 2000 season, the White Sox went 95-67 to win the AL Central.

With the White Sox, Schueler played two very different roles as General Manager. In the early 1990's, his focus was on finding complimentary players to sustain the team's success. Later in the decade, he helped develop an organization from the inside out with a deep pool of young talent. In 2000, his final season as General Manager, Schueler's White Sox were named "Organization of the Year" by Baseball America.

In addition to his tenure as White Sox General Manager, Schueler has served in various special assistant and senior advisory capacities with the Cubs, Cardinals and Athletics, earning World Championship rings with St. Louis in 2006 and Oakland in 1989. Schueler has 27 years of off-the-field baseball experience and an additional 15 years of playing service.

Schueler was also a pitching coach with the White Sox (1979-81), Athletics (1982-84) and Pittsburgh Pirates (1986).

As a pitcher, Schueler compiled a 40-48 record over eight big league seasons with Atlanta (1972-73), Philadelphia (1974-76) Minnesota (1977) and the White Sox (1978-79). The 6-5 righthander originally was selected by Atlanta in the third round (secondary phase) of the January 1967 free agent draft.

Born in Hays, KS, Schueler played baseball and basketball before graduating from Hays High School. He attended Fort Hays State College prior to being drafted. Schueler has two step daughters (Jennifer and Christina) with his wife, Linda. They reside in Paradise Valley, AZ.

BOB BOONE
ASSISTANT GM & VP, PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

Bob Boone joined the Nationals upon being appointed as Special Assistant to the General Manager on December 11, 2004. He shifted into his current role as Assistant General Manager & Vice President, Player Development during the 2006 season.

From his first day with the Nationals, Boone has worked closely and been involved in every aspect of the Nationals' baseball operation. He played an extremely vital role in all big league evaluations, both internal and external, and helped "recruit" a new wave of player-development talent to join the Nationals' scouting and coaching ranks. His presence has also helped the Nationals in signing Player Development Contracts with Syracuse of the Triple-A International League and Hagerstown of the Single-A South Atlantic League, thus compacting Washington's player-development footprint.

Boone also spent considerable time and energy scouting amateur talent, specifically in preparation for the 2005 First-Year Player Draft, which netted University of Virginia third baseman Ryan Zimmerman and University of Maryland outfielder Justin Maxwell.

Boone joined Washington after spending the 2004 campaign with Philadelphia as a Special Assignment Scout, a position he accepted on December 3, 2003 after a 22-year hiatus from the Phillies organization.

One of the premier catchers of his generation, Bob was named to four All-Star teams (1976, 78-79, 83) and won seven Rawlings Gold Gloves (1978-79, 82, 86-89), including two at ages 40 and 41, during his 19-year career. Only Ivan Rodriguez (13) and Johnny Bench (10) have won more Gold Gloves for catching.

Selected by the Phillies in the sixth round of the 1969 draft as a third baseman out of Stanford University—where he graduated with a degree in psychology—Boone spent the first ten years of his major league career with Philadelphia (1972-81), which won four division titles and a World Series Championship in 1980.

Following his tenure with the Phillies, Boone played for Anaheim (1982-88) and Kansas City (1989-90). Upon retirement, Boone held the major league record for games caught in a career (2225), a record later broken by Carlton Fisk, and most seasons catching at least 100 games (15).

In October of 1994, Boone was named manager of the Kansas City Royals, a position he held until July of 1997. Following tenure with Kansas City, Boone joined Cincinnati as a special assistant before serving as manager of the Reds from 2001 until July of 2003.

Bob was born on November 19, 1947 in San Diego, CA and resides in Villa Park, CA with his wife, Sue. Two of their sons played major league baseball and achieved All-Star status: Bret (three-time All-Star, retired) and Aaron (2003 NL All-Star, retired). His father, the late Ray Boone, was an All-Star infielder during his 13-year career in the big leagues (1948-60). Bob's brother, Rodney, played in the Kansas City and Houston farm systems from 1972-75. The Boones are one of only three 3-generation baseball families, along with the Bells (Gus, Buddy and David) and the Hairstons (Sam, Jerry Sr. and Jerry Jr.).

DAVEY JOHNSON
SENIOR ADVISOR TO THE GENERAL MANAGER

Davey Johnson was named Nationals Senior Advisor to the General Manager on November 18, 2009.

A former World Series winning player and manager, Johnson skippered four big league teams—the Mets, Reds, Orioles and Dodgers—for 14 seasons, compiling a 1148-888 (.564) record.

In those 14 big league seasons, Johnson's clubs finished first or second 11 times, including five division titles, one pennant and one World Championship earned with the Mets in 1986.

In 1997, Johnson was named American League Manager of the Year after guiding the Orioles to a 98-64 (.605) record. He is one of only seven living men to have won a World Series ring as a player and manager, joining Alvin Dark, Joe Girardi, Ralph Houk, Lou Piniella, Mike Scioscia and Red Schoendienst.

Johnson joins the Nationals after managing Team USA to a semi-finals berth in the 2009 World Baseball Classic. As a player, Johnson hit .261 with 136 home runs and 609 RBI in 13 big league seasons during a career that included a stint in Japan. Johnson was a four-time All-Star, won three Gold Gloves, played in five post-seasons and earned a pair of World Series rings with the Orioles in 1966 and 1970. 2008

In first taste of big leagues, pitched better than 3-7, 5.51 ERA numbers indicate...made 15 starts after having contract selected from Columbus, June 30...walked 2 or less 10 times...combining Triple-A and big league stats, went 12-10 with a 4.76 ERA (84 ER/158.2 IP) in 30 starts and finished the campaign just 4 months past 22nd birthday...held opponents without a hit through the game's first 3 innings on 5 occasions...thus, posted a .210 batting average against the first time through the lineup, .338 thereafter...ranked among NL rookies in starts (tied for 7th, 15) and innings (9th, 80.0).

Game-By-Game Highlights: By allowing just one run on one hit in 5.0 innings, July 1 at FLA, posted the "W" and became only the 2nd franchise pitcher to garner a win in an MLB debut on the road (immortal Expos RHP Hal Dues had previously turned the trick on Sept. 9, 1977 at PIT)...in 2nd inning of that initial start, fanned Cody Ross for first big league punch out...earned the win at Derek Lowe's expense, August 26 vs. LAD, allowing one run in 5.0 innings.

In minor leagues: Went 9-3 with a 4.00 ERA in 15 starts with Columbus of the Triple-A International League at the time of first big league promotion...was 8-1 with a 3.90 ERA in final 10 IL starts...was 4-0 with a 2.82 ERA in 4 June assignments and was named Nationals Minor League Pitcher of the Month...at time of promotion, was tied for 3rd in the IL with 9 wins despite being one of the IL's younger pitchers...allowed 2 runs or less in 9 of 15 IL starts.

Turned 21 in June, yet combined to go 4-10 with a 3.89 ERA in 27 starts for Columbus of the Triple-A International League and Harrisburg of the Double-A Eastern League...was one of youngest players in both circuits, especially Triple-A...led all Nationals minor-league pitchers in strikeouts...posted stellar 2.4/1 strikeout-to-walk ratio...earned spot in Double-A Eastern League mid-season All-Star Game (did not play due to XM Futures Game invitation)...combined on 11 quality starts at the 2 levels.

2006

Pitched for both Harrisburg and Potomac of the Single-A Carolina League...despite relative youth, combined to go 5-5 with a 4.71 ERA at the 2 levels...fanned 6.3 batters per 9.0 innings...ranked 9th among Nationals minor-league pitchers in ERA...began season attempting new delivery and struggled...however, reverted to prior mechanics in August and went 1-0 with a 2.96 ERA in final 7 starting assignments, 6 of which rendered quality starts...combined on a batting average against of .179 with RISP and 2 outs.

2005

In first complete professional season, finished 8-6 with a 3.67 ERA in 23 games (22 starts) with Savannah of the Single-A South Atlantic League...ranked 5th among Nationals minor-league hurlers in ERA...5 of 8 wins came on the road...notched quality starts in 7 of first 15 starting assignments...posted .186 batting average against when facing left-handed hitters...tossed 8.0 scoreless innings, faced only 27 batters and garnered the win, July 9 at Greensboro...allowed only one hit, one walk and matched season-high with 8 strikeouts in the same game...posted sub-3.00 ERA in both April (1.61) and June (2.59).

2004

Pitched in 5 games (4 starts) for the Expos' Gulf Coast League entry in professional debut...posted a .215 batting average against and 7.7 strikeouts per 9.0 innings...did not allow a home run in 24.2 innings...pitching in relief in professional debut, scattered 2 hits and fanned one in 3.1 scoreless innings in nightcap of July 2 doubleheader at GCL Marlins.

CAREER

Enters 2010 healthy after playing in only 10 games in 2009 due to a fractured right ankle...in 2008, before reaching Washington, became the first Nationals/Expos farmhand to hit at least .320 at each of the 2 highest levels of the minor leagues in the same season since Rondell White turned the trick in 1993 by hitting .328 with Double-A Harrisburg and .380 with Triple-A Ottawa...before injury-riddled 2009 campaign, had averaged 33.6 stolen bags in 5 full minor-league seasons ('04-08)...was signed out of the Expos' academy in the Netherlands.

2009

Played in 3 games with Nationals, but season was cut short by a season-ending ankle injury...on April 18 vs. FLA, just 3 days after being recalled from Triple-A Syracuse, fractured right ankle while making a spectacular catch at the center-field wall on a line drive by Dan Uggla in the 8th inning...that same night, underwent Open Reduction Internal Fixation (ORIF) surgery to repair the ankle, performed by Dr. Wiemi Douoguih at Washington Hospital Center...was placed on the DL the following day and missed the season's remaining 152 contests.

Game-By-Game Highlights: Recorded lone hit of season in 3-2 10-inning loss, April 17 vs. FLA...doubled in 8th inning off Logan Kensing after entering game as defensive replacement in right field at the top of that frame.

In Minor Leagues: Began season with Syracuse, where he batted .167 (3-for-18) with a stolen base...appeared in two games with GCL Nationals during rehab stint, Aug. 25-26.

Earned first taste of big leagues in 2 stints with Washington...on June 28, was summoned from Harrisburg of the Double-A Eastern League for first big league promotion as Lastings Milledge went on the DL...laced a single in first career at-bat, June 29 vs. BAL, off Jeremy Guthrie...became first National to collect a hit in first MLB plate appearance since Joel Hanrahan tripled in nightcap of July 23, 2007 "twinbill" at NYM...hit .306 with 4 stolen bags in 16 September contests.

Game-By-Game Highlights: Recorded first big league RBI and extra-base hit with a triple on September 5 at ATL... on September 19 vs. SDP, posted a career-best 3 hits and swiped 2 bags.

In Minor Leagues: Led full-season Washington farmhands in batting (.336), hits (151) and runs (78)...ranked 2nd with 41 stolen bases...earned Harrisburg Player of the Month honors for May (.351, 7 doubles, 6 triples, 21 RBI)... rated in Baseball America's "Best Tools" survey of league managers as the Best Baserunner in the Double-A Eastern League.

CAREER

Continues return from July, 3 2008 ligament-replacement surgery...in 2007, led MLB rookie lefthanders with 7 wins as the initial arrival among the Nationals' stable of young starting arms...was pitching in a semi-pro league in San Diego upon being drafted by ARI in the 3rd round of the '03 First-Year Player Draft...member of the '00 and '01 United States Junior National Team which won silver medals at the '01 Pan American Games in Cuba and the '00 IBAF tournament in Canada...signed by ARI scout Mark Baca.

2009

Completed return to mound from Tommy John surgery, going 2-4 with 3.96 ERA in 15 combined starts for Double-A Harrisburg (12 starts) and Single-A Hagerstown...did not pitch until June...tossed just 61.1 innings as workload was closely monitored...was touched for just 2 home runs in 50.1 Eastern League innings.

2008

After strong rookie season, struggled on the mound and with injuries in sophomore campaign...went 0-6 with a 6.19 ERA in 11 games (8 starts) before season was cut short...did not pitch after May 21...was placed on the 15-Day DL on May 23 (left elbow)...had reconstructive left-elbow surgery performed by Dr. James Andrews on July 3...plight was not helped by facing an eventual double-digit winner (Brett Myers, Adam Wainwright, Tim Hudson, John Maine, Carlos Zambrano and Jamie Moyer) in 7 of 8 starting assignments...when starting, Washington was blanked twice.

Game-By-Game Highlights: On April 11 vs. ATL, in self-described best big league start, allowed just one run on 5 hits in career-best 8.0 innings, but took the loss in a 3-0 setback...was out dueled by Tim Hudson.

In minor leagues: Pitched in one game—allowing 4 runs in 4.0 innings—for Columbus of the Triple-A International League, May 31 at Buffalo, but did not pitch thereafter.

Entered '07 never having pitched above Double-A, exceeded expectations in true rookie season, going 7-9 with a 4.63 ERA in 31 starts with Washington...led the Nationals pitchers with 31 starts, 167.0 innings and 94 strikeouts...7 wins also led Nationals starters...31 starts ranked 2nd among MLB rookie leaders in starts behind only BOS' Daisuke Matsuzaka (32)...paced NL rookie pitchers in starts (first) and innings (first)...also ranked among NL rookie pitchers in winning percentage (3rd, .438), strikeouts (4th), wins (tied for 4th), ERA (9th, 4.63) and batting average against (9th, .281)...allowed 3 earned runs or less in 20 of 31 starts (65%)...struggled after the All-Star break, going 1-2 with a 6.50 ERA in 7 starts, before being optioned to Triple-A Columbus after taking the loss, August 17 vs. NYM...returned to the Nationals on September 1 after 2 IL starts...went 2-2 with a 3.38 ERA in 6 Sept. starts...walked only 9 batters in those 6 September outings or 2.3 per 9.0 innings pitched...had issued an average of 4.4 walks per 9 innings (65 BB/132.1 IP) in his 25 starts before being sent to Columbus...became just the 3rd rookie in franchise annals to reach the 30-start plateau, joining RHP Javier Vazquez (32 in 1998) and RHP Carl Morton (37 in 1970)...when toeing the rubber, the Nationals went 16-15...nabbed first MLB win in a frigid 5-1 win, April 16 vs. ATL (first pitch temperature was 47 degrees, but wind gusts were at/near 40 mph)...in 5.0 innings of work, allowed one run on 4 hits and 5 walks...did not record a K...in the last 70 years, only 2 other starting pitchers picked up their first MLB win despite walking at least 5 and fanning none: HOU's Gil Rondon (1976) and SEA's Jim Converse (1993)...went without a win in first 12 road starts until notching victories in each of final 2 road assignments, Sept. 24 at NYM and Sept. 29 at PHI...4 times exited starts with the lead, but was relegated to a no-decision...was saddled with team-high 10 unearned runs.

Game-By-Game Highlights: Fired 7.0 shut-out innings to earn win in July 4th 6-0 victory vs. CHI...did not walk a single Cub and fanned 4...on September 29, earned 2nd win in as many starts despite pitching on Fox Game of the Week and in front of Citizens Bank Park sellout...allowed one run on 4 hits in 6.0 stoic-yet-spectacular innings as the Nationals dented PHI's post-season aspirations with a 4-2 victory.

Acquired by the Nationals from ARI along with RHP Garrett Mock on August 7 in exchange for RHP Livan Hernandez... with trade, was assigned to Harrisburg of the Double-A Eastern League, and went 2-0 with a 3.27 ERA in 4 starts (2 quality starts)...with Lancaster, notched the organization's Minor League Pitcher of the Month honor for April (2-1 with a 1.53 ERA in 5 starts)...with Tennessee, went 6-0 with a 1.87 ERA (9 ER/43.1 IP) in his last 7 starts beginning June 28...went 4-0 with a 2.03 ERA in 5 July starts and was named ARI's Minor League Pitcher of the Month...pitching for Tennessee, June 1 vs. Carolina, clubbed his first pro homer, a 2-run blast.

Game-By-Game Highlights: Struck out a career-best 11, left in line for the win, but took a no-decision on April 17 at NYM...in all, allowed one run on 3 hits in 6.0 innings...in that game, became the first franchise rookie to strike out 10 or more since Brian Barnes fanned 11, June 2, 1991 vs. CHI.

In just 3rd season as a pro, was named Nationals Minor League Pitcher of the Year...pitched beyond years in 6 starts with the Nationals after beginning '07 with Potomac of the Single-A Carolina League...won an organizational-best 14 games at 4 levels...made big league debut on July 26 at PHI...did not get a decision, allowing 5 runs (4 earned) on 6 hits in 4.1 innings in game eventually won by Washington, 7-6...walked 2 and fanned one (Ryan Howard for first MLB strikeout) before becoming just the 5th player in MLB history to be ejected in a Major League debut...was joined on this list by CIN's Aaron Boone (June 20, 1997 for throwing helmet after being thrown out at home plate on single), OAK's Doug Johns (July 8, 1995 for throwing at a batter), MIL's Sid Roberson (May 20, 1995 for throwing at a batter after a warning) and PHI's Andy Carter (May 3, 1994 for hitting 2 of 3 batters faced)...was ejected by HP-umpire Hunter Wendelstedt after hitting Howard in the 5th (one offering after hitting Chase Utley with a pitch)...the ejection came with the Nationals trailing by only one run and, per Washington's contention, was simply due to a case of wildness (was ahead in the count, 0-2, to Utley)...secured first big league win in a 7-2 victory, Aug. 1 vs. CIN...Aug. 6 at SFG, with the nation watching Barry Bonds' bid to hit career homer No. 756, retired Bonds 3 times (popout, GIDP, K) and walked him once...completed '07 in good health, but wasn't promoted in September as due to mounting innings load.

In Minor Leagues: Went a combined 12-3 with a 2.31 ERA (32 ER/124.2 IP) in 21 games (20 starts) at 3 levels (Triple-A Columbus, Double-A Harrisburg, Single-A Potomac) in Washington's system...led Washington farmhands in ERA and ranked 2nd in wins...was named to the Carolina League mid-season All-Star team.

Pitching for Savannah of the Single-A South Atlantic League in first complete season as a pro, fanned 7.4 batters per inning and recorded 12 quality starts, including 8 in final 12 assignments.

2005

Notched quality starts in 4 of final 5 assignments in pro debut with Vermont of the short-season Single-A NY-P League.

JASON MARQUIS • RHP

CAREER

Arguably the Nationals' most significant off-season addition...is expected to serve club in a mentor role while headlining the Nationals' young rotation...is one of only 10 big league pitchers to record a double-digit win total every season since 2004, and the lone hurler to turn the trick exclusively in the National League...in 6 seasons beginning with 2004, Marquis has registered 15- (twice: 2009, 2004), 14- (2006), 13- (2005), 12- (2007) and 11-win (2008) seasons...an extreme ground-ball pitcher, ranks 5th in MLB in both ground balls induced (1,976) and double-play grounders induced (135) in 6 seasons beginning in 2004...has thrice pitched 200-or-more innings (2004, '05, '09)...is the only player in MLB whose club has reached the post-season each of the last 10 seasons.

2009

Earned first All-Star citation (did not pitch in Mid-Summer Classic at STL) en route to finishing 15-13 with a 4.04 ERA in 33 starts in lone season with COL...matched Ubaldo Jimenez for the Rockies team lead in wins and starts...career-high 216.0 innings ranked 8th in the NL...15 wins ranked 4th in the NL and matched a career high set in 2004...ranked 2nd in MLB by inducing 395 ground balls, while 2.15/1 ground ball-to-fly ball ratio ranked 4th in the NL...also ranked among NL leaders in GIDP's induced (tied for 2nd, 28), innings (7th, 216.0) and starts (tied for 7th)...strong season was aided by a 23 percent drop in home runs allowed per 9.0 innings and a 13 percent drop in walks per 9.0 innings as compared to 2008...was just COL's 4th All-Star pitcher after pacing the NL in first-half wins (11)...posted better ERA (3.92) in 16 starts at Coors Field than in 17 road starts (4.16)...was one of just 21 NL starters to register at least 21 quality starts...notched 11 quality starts in 16 assignments in Denver...the 11 quality starts at Coors Field matched Jimenez's single-season mark set in 2008...was touched for one earned run or less 11 times in 33 starts.

Game-By-Game Highlights: Needed just 86 pitches to throw 3rd-career shutout, a 2-hitter, in COL's 3-0 win at LAD, June 30...went the distance in a 5-1 win on May 2 at SFG.

In final season with CHI, won 11 games for NL Central Division champs...thanks to 3.25 road ERA, 7 of 11 wins came outside of Wrigley Field...pitched into the 6th inning in each of season's final 13 starts...went career-high 6 straight starts without being touched for a homer, August 13-Sept. 17...in front of family and friends, belted first career grand slam en route to 5-RBI effort on September 22 at NYM...the 5 RBI matched a Cubs single-game mark for pitchers, and was the first Cub pitcher to his a slam since Kevin Tapani turned the trick on July 20, 1998 at ATL.

2007

Won 12 games in first season with CHI...when going at least 6.0 innings, CHI finished 15-2...8 of 12 wins came at Wrigley Field...tossed 2nd career shutout, a 3-hitter that featured zero walks and 5 strikeouts, in 1-0 win on May 9 vs. PIT...on June 25 vs. COL, reached the 1000 career-inning plateau.

2006

Notched 50th career win (June 4 vs. CHI) while going 14-16 with a 6.02 ERA in 33 starts for World Champion Cardinals...11 of 14 wins came prior to the All-Star break...became the 3rd pitcher since 1900 to win at least 14 games and register an ERA in excess of 6.00 (Wes Ferrell, 15-10, 6.28 for '38 Senators and Guy Bush, 15-10, 6.20 for '30 Cubs)...twice was taxed for double-digit earned run totals (13, June 21 at CWS and 12, 7/18 vs. ATL).

2005

Went 13-14 in up-and-down 2nd season with the Cardinals...worked at least 200 innings for a 2nd straight season...lost 10 of 11 decision in a 13-start stretch, June 15-August 23...posted consecutive complete-game wins, August 27 at Washington and September 4 at HOU.

2004

Posted career-high 15 wins and eclipsed the 200-inning plateau in first season with STL...helped the Cardinals claim the NL Central and an NL flag...in span of 17 starts, won a career-best 11 consecutive decisions from May 31-September 4...tossed career-best 3 complete games, all of which came in the season's 2nd half.

2003

In final season with ATL, pitched in just 21 games/2 starts at the big league level...finished 8-4 with a 3.35 ERA in 15 starts with Richmond...began season with the Braves, but was optioned to Richmond on April 19 with a 6.57 ERA.

2002

Was limited to 22 starts thanks to month-long stint on the DL due to tendinitis...was 6-4 with a 3.95 ERA in 12 starts prior to the All-Star break, 2-5 with a 6.97 ERA in 10 starts thereafter.

2001

In first complete big league campaign, posted a strong 3.48 ERA in 38 games/16 starts...went 4-6 with a 3.26 ERA in the 16 starting assignments...got first big league start on May 12 at LAD...tossed 6.0 scoreless innings, but went without a decision...as last-minute replacement for ailing John Smoltz, August 3 vs. MIL, struck out career-best 13.

2000

Made 17 starts for Richmond and Double-A Greenville before getting first taste of big league action with ATL...was recalled by ATL on June 5 as John Rocker was optioned...walked one and struck out one (Shannon Stewart) en route to 1.0 scoreless inning in MLB debut, June 6 vs. TOR...received blown save, but later pocketed first big league win in 3-2 victory on June 23 vs. MIL.

1999

Combined to go 6-4 with a 3.00 ERA in 18 starts for Single-A Myrtle Beach and Double-A Greenville...began season with 20.0 consecutive scoreless innings with Myrtle Beach...was promoted to Double-A on May 10.

CAREER

Last name is pronounced MAR-tiss...pitched in the 2008 Summer Olympics in Beijing (0-2 with a 6.75 ERA)...pitched for the Netherlands in '06 World Baseball Classic and tossed a 7.0-inning no-hitter in lone start, March 10, 2006 vs. Panama...entered the last inning having thrown 57 pitches (8 under the tournament's pitch limit for that round)...after a Netherlands error, recorded final 3 outs on just 2 pitches (fly out, GIDP) to finish at the pitch limit.

2009

Happ)...earned win in first 5 decisions and became the first and only DC-based rookie to start 5-0 (1901-71, 2005-present)...was the first franchise pitcher to start 5-0 since both Pedro Martinez (8-0) and Jeff Juden (5-0) in '97, and the last franchise rookie to start 5-0 since Carlos Perez in '95...politely declined invitation to pitch for the Netherlands in '09 World Baseball Classic.

Game-By-Game Highlights: Went the distance for first time in career, allowing little more than a Colby Rasmus solo shot in the 6th inning, to grab the win as the Nationals topped STL, 6-1, May 2 at Nationals Park.

In Minor Leagues: Spent final 2 months of IL campaign going 4-4 with a 4.96 ERA in 13 starts with the Chiefs...notched 7 quality starts...walked 2 or less in 11 of 13 IL starts.

Was the 2nd-youngest pitcher in the big leagues...debuted on Sept. 4 at ATL at age of 21 years, 5 months, 6 days...only LAD's Clayton Kershaw (20, 2, 6) was younger in 2008...earned first big league win, September 23 vs. FLA to become the youngest franchise pitcher to earn an initial big league win since Ugueth Urbina (May 14, 1995 at NYM).

Game-By-Game Highlights: Made MLB debut on September 4 at ATL and took the loss...with C Luke Montz, formed the first battery in which both the pitcher and catcher were making an MLB debut since Luther Hackman and Ben Petrick turned the trick for COL, September 1, 1999 vs. PIT.

In minor leagues: Combined to go 5-6 with a 3.64 ERA in 21 starts for Triple-A Columbus and Double-A Harrisburg...3.64 ERA ranked 4th among Nationals minor-league pitchers (minimum 100.0 innings).

2009

Pitched in just 11 games in 4th and final season with the Diamondbacks...was member of ARI's Opening Day roster, but spent the majority of the season with Reno of the Triple-A Pacific Coast League, going 3-2 with 9 saves and a 3.09 ERA in 39 appearances...while in the PCL, registered a healthy 2.7/1 strikeout-to-walk ratio...was touched for just 3 home runs in 43.2 PCL innings.

2007

Went 3-2 with career-high 7 holds and a 2.72 ERA in 61 games with ARI in first complete big league campaign...2.72 ERA was 2nd-lowest mark ever recorded by a D-Backs left-handed reliever (Greg Swindell, 2.51 in 1999)...was integral part of ARI bullpen as D-Backs claimed first post-season berth since 2002...22 times, pitched 1.0 or more innings and went 3-1 with a 1.59 ERA...with 1.0 inning of relief, pocketed first career win on May 19 at PIT.

2006

Earned first taste of big leagues after combining to go 4-4 with a 1.43 ERA in 58 games for Tucson and Tennessee of the Double-A Southern League...allowed only one run in final 29.0 minor-league innings before getting call from ARI on September 2...debuted with the D-Backs on September 4 at FLA...first strikeout victim was Russell Branyan, September 19 vs. SDP.

2005

Pitching for Tennessee, struck out over a batter per inning—10.6 per 9.0 innings (3rd among Southern League relievers)—in first complete Double-A campaign...yielded just 2 home runs in 61.1 innings...did not allow an extra-base hit to a left-handed batter all season...went 2-0 with a 6.28 ERA pitching for Phoenix in the prestigious Arizona Fall League.

2004

Began season with El Paso of the Double-A Texas League, but by season's end paced South Bend of the Single-A Midwest League in relief wins with 5...fanned 8.2 per 9.0 innings while in the Midwest League.

CAREER

Top-flight pitching talent will be on mend for beginning of 2010 due to "Tommy John" ligament-replacment surgery (see below)...Nationals' 2008 Minor League Pitcher of the Year...was the 67th overall selection in the 2007 First-Year Player Draft out of the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point...was selected with 2nd of 2 compensatory picks granted as Alfonso Soriano signed with CHI as a free agent in November of 2006...has allowed 3 earned runs or less in 40 of 51 (78%) starts as a pro...has been taxed for 2 earned runs or less in 69 percent (35 of 51 starts) of professional starts...has allowed one earned run or less 26 times.

2009

Flashed immense promise going 3-5 with a 4.63 ERA in 16 starts with the Nationals, but had season cut short by elbow injuries...had season-ending surgery to repair the right-elbow UCL on August 19...the procedure was performed by Dr. Lewis Yocum in Los Angeles, CA on August 19...was the first true rookie to enter a season in Washington's rotation since Matt Chico in 2007...earned the win in first 2 starts, April 20 vs. ATL and April 26 at NYM...thus, became the first franchise (exclusive) starting pitcher to garner the win in initial 2 big league starts since Randy Johnson did the same for the Expos in 1988 (in 2006, Beltran Perez did the same, but sandwiched around 5 relief appearances)...at time of final start, ranked among NL rookie leaders in strikeouts (first, 92), ERA (4th, 4.63), wins (tied 6th, 3), starts (2nd, 16), innings (4th, 91.1) and batting average against (5th, .271)...was touched for 2 runs or less in 6 of final 8 starts...in 91.1 innings, walked just 29 and struck out 92, good for a 3.2/1 strikeout-to-walk ratio which would have ranks 14th in the NL with enough innings to qualify...would've also ranked 9th in the NL with 9.07 K's per 9.0 with enough innings to qualify...went 1-0 with a 1.82 ERA in 4 interleague starts.

Game-By-Game Highlights: Dominated AL's best offensive club in a 9-3 victory, June 25 vs. BOS...allowed one run on 5 Red Sox hits in 7.0 innings, walking one and striking out 6 to secure 3rd win.

In Minor Leagues: Pitching for Triple-A Syracuse, on April 9, allowed 3 runs on 4 hits in 5.1 innings...start was necessitated by series of off days for Washington in the opening weeks of the season.

Went a combined 10-3 with a 2.89 ERA in 25 games (24 starts) with Harrisburg and Potomac in '08...led the Washington chain in ERA and strikeouts (134), and tied for lead in wins...the 22-year-old earned mid-season Eastern League All-Star honors, his 2nd All-Star selection in as many seasons...went 7-2 with a 3.21 ERA (38 ER/106.0 IP) in 20 starts with Harrisburg...prior to his May 4 promotion to Harrisburg, Zimmermann dominated the Carolina League, going 3-1 with one save and a 1.65 ERA (5 ER/27.1 IP) in 5 appearances (4 starts) with Potomac.

JORDAN ZIMMERMANN • RHP

Entered season rated as the No. 7 prospect and 5th-best among pitchers in Washington system...finished 5th in Single-A New York-Penn League with a 2.38 ERA...struck out 71 in 53.0 innings (12.0 K's per 9.0 innings)...was Vermont's Pitcher of the Month for August/September, going 3-1 with 36 strikeouts and a 2.73 ERA in 6 starts.

PERSONAL

Jordan M. Zimmermann...Business Administration major pitched final season at Division III Wisconsin-Stevens Point with jaw wired shut (hit by a line drive during BP)...was Division III second-team All-American at UWSP...played baseball, football (caught over 300 yards in a game once) and hoops at Auburndale (WI) High...jumped onto draft radar with stellar summer (4-2, NWL-best 1.01 ERA, .154 BAA, 10.3 K's per 9.0 innings, 10 starts) pitching for Eau Claire Express in the '06 Northwoods League.

J. ZIMM'NN

END RESULT

In '06, the Nationals were faced with the quandary of potentially trading OF Alfonso Soriano and/or OF Jose Guillen at the trading deadline...however, the Nationals did not trade either player, but instead were granted compensatory draft picks as Soriano (CHI) and Guillen (SEA) signed elsewhere...a look at the 3 players that the Nationals selected in the 2007 First-Year Player Draft as a result of holding on to Soriano and Guillen:

LHP Josh Smoker (Calhoun [GA] High) - 31st overall...entered 2008 rated by Baseball America as the Nationals' No. 6 prospect...the '07 Gatorade Player of the Year in Georgia.

OF Michael Burgess (Hillsborough [FL] High) - 49th overall...the Nationals' No. 10 prospect entering '10, and No. 4 in both '08 and '09...'07 GCL Player of the Year...hit 43 homers the last 2 seasons.

RHP Jordan Zimmermann (University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point) - 67th overall...entered '09 as Washington's top prospect per BA...entered '08 rated No. 7 prospect...has fanned 9.6 per 9 innings as a pro.

WASHINGTON NATIONALS 2009 TEAM NOTES

5 DOWN, MANY MANY TO GO

The Washington Nationals completed their 5th season in DC with a 59-103 (.364) record...the Nationals finished 5th in the NL East, 34.0 games behind division-champion PHI.

★ With 2009 in the books, the Nationals are now 343-466 (.424) in 5 seasons (2005-present) in Washington...in 414 NL seasons in Washington and Montreal, the franchise's all-time record is 3098-3409-4.

SOME 2009 FACTS

The 2009 Nationals employed the services of 55 players to rank 2nd in MLB...the 55 players were 5 more than the 50 Washington utilized in 2008, and 2 shy of the Nationals (2005-present) record of 57 set in 2006...a Nationals-record 30 pitchers toed the rubber for Washington, 12 of which started at least one game...the 12 starting pitchers tied for 4th in MLB.

★ The Nationals' 59-103 record ranked 30th in MLB...the losing season was the Nationals 4th in 5 seasons in DC, and franchise's 25th in 41 NL seasons...the Nationals fell a season-high 51 games below .500 on Sept. 27.

YOUTH SERVED

15 rookies appeared in at least one game for the Nationals in '08...only 6 teams employed more rookies than Washington's 15...11 of Washington 15 rookies were pitchers (4th in MLB).

★ A rookie pitcher received the starting nod in 97 of Washington's 162 games in 2009 (60%)...only OAK, with 110, was more reliant on rookie starting pitchers in 2009.

★ 6 players, including 4 pitchers, made big league debuts as Nationals this season: Ian Desmond (MLB debut September 10 vs. PHI), Victor Garate (September 5 vs. FLA), J.D. Martin (July 20 vs. NYM), Jorge Padilla (August 5 vs. FLA), Craig Stammen (May 21 vs. PIT) and Jordan Zimmermann (April 20 vs. ATL).

HIT-STREAK HYSTERIA HIT DC

With Ryan Zimmerman's 30-gamer—tied for the 3rd-longest in DC baseball annals—keep in mind that it had been 76 years since DC baseball fans celebrated a streak of such length:

RK	DC BALLPLAYER (TEAM)	YEAR	HIT STREAK
1.	*Heinie Manush (AL Nationals)	1933	33
2.	*Sam Rice (AL Nationals)	1924	31
T3.	Ryan Zimmerman (NL Nationals)	2009	30
T3.	*Sam Rice (AL Nationals)	1929-30	30

* – Member of Baseball's Hall-of-Fame

7 AND 7

The Nationals were the first team in MLB history to close the season on a 7-game winning streak after beginning the same season with 7 straight losses...history was not complete until the Nationals won the season finale, 2-1, at ATL in the longest game (15 innings) in the brief history of the Nationals (2005-present)...the 15-inning contest was the longest on the final day of a season—in terms of innings—since August 11, 1994, when PHI edged NYM, 2-1, at The Vet...one day later, the Strike of 1994 hit and the season never again resumed.

NORRIS AND MEYERS NAMED NATIONALS MINOR LEAGUE PLAYER AND PITCHER OF THE YEAR

The Nationals named C Derek Norris (.286, 30 doubles, 23 home runs, 84 RBI, 78 runs scored in 126 games with Hagerstown of the Single-A South Atlantic League) and RHP Brad Meyers (combined 11-3 with a 1.72 ERA in 24 games/23 starts for Double-A Harrisburg and Single-A Potomac) their 2009 Minor League Player and Pitcher of the Year, respectively.

BASEBALL RETURNS TO OUR NATION'S CAPITAL

On Wednesday, September 29, 2004, Major League Baseball selected the Washington, D.C. proposal as its choice for relocation of the Montreal Expos. Commissioner Allan H. (Bud) Selig made the announcement. Relocation of the club was subject to certain contingencies, including a formal vote of ownership at the next owners' meeting in November and passage of legislation by the District of Columbia Council to provide for financing and construction of a ballpark on the Anacostia River waterfront in Southeast Washington. MLB also provided the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida the required notice of MLB's intent to move forward with relocating the team.

The D.C. agreement also included financing for the refurbishing of RFK Stadium, where the Washington, D.C. franchise played through the 2007 campaign.

"Washington, D.C., as our nation's capital, is one of the world's most important cities and Major League Baseball is gratified at the skill and perseverance shown by (then) Mayor Williams throughout this long process," Selig said. "There has been tremendous growth in the Washington, D.C. area over the last 33 years and we in Major League Baseball believe that baseball will be welcomed there and will be a great success."

Selig also said: "I would like to thank the representatives who worked on behalf of Northern Virginia, Norfolk, VA, Las Vegas, Portland, OR, Monterrey, Mexico and others for devoting so much time and energy in their attempts to bring a Major League Baseball team to their communities."

At the time, Washington, D.C. was the largest market in the country in terms of population (5.4 million) and television market size (eighth) without a Major League Baseball team.

Even though Washington, D.C. baseball has a long history with the American League, the team plays in the National League East Division, which in fact marks its return to its baseball roots. The first Washington, D.C. franchise joined the National League in 1886 and was part of the NL, except for a two-year hiatus in 1890-91, until the National League contracted Washington and three other franchises in 1900.

But a year later, Ban Johnson organized the American League and included Washington, D.C. as one of its charter franchises. Although the original Senators were mostly mediocre throughout their history, they fielded one of the game's greatest all-time pitchers, Walter "Big Train" Johnson and made three trips to the World Series, winning it in 1924 in a seven-game series against the New York Giants. In 1925, the Senators lost in seven games to Pittsburgh and lost in five games to the Giants in 1933.

The second incarnation of the Senators came in 1961 in the form of an expansion team. Like its predecessor, the Senators often finished in the second division and had only one winning season in their 11-year history. The Senators moved after the 1971 season and Washington, D.C. was without Major League Baseball until 2005.

HISTORY AND RECORDS

THE HISTORY OF BASEBALL IN WASHINGTON, D.C.

When the first professional baseball games were played in the nation's capital, Washington, D.C., the enduring symbol of freedom in America - the Statue of Liberty - was still two years away from being dedicated. There were 38 states in the Union and what would become the State of Oklahoma had yet to be settled. More than seven decades had passed since Washington, D.C. became the capital of the United States and baseball was quickly evolving into the National Pastime.

A Washington team was admitted to the National League in 1885 and played during the League's 10th professional season in 1886. Washington played 12 years in the National League - 1886-89 and 1892-99 - but was part of a four-team contraction in 1900 as the National League went from 12 franchises to eight.

Later that same year, former Western League president Ban Johnson was organizing a second Major League to compete with the National League and announced plans to include a franchise in the nation's capital. The new League was called the American League and began play in 1901.

This Washington franchise was awarded to James Manning and Detroit businessman Fred Postal. Manning retired later that year and Tom Loftus replaced him as the club's primary executive. The Senators finished in sixth place in 1901 with a 61-72 mark and would eventually be sold to an ownership group including Thomas C. Noyes, Benjamin Minor and Harry Rapley, among others.

The first of two individual tragedies struck the organization in only its third season as the Senators lost a key figure when future Hall of Fame outfielder Ed Delahanty was tragically killed in July 1903 when he was swept over Niagara Falls. Delahanty was the reigning American League batting champion and his sudden death took its toll on the team as the Senators finished the campaign with a 43-94 mark.

Effective for the 1905 campaign, the team name was changed to Nationals. Newspaper accounts use the names Senators and Nationals interchangeably for the next five decades.

While it took 12 years before the Nationals finished a season with a winning record, the signing of 20 year-old pitcher Walter Johnson in 1907 would signify a key moment in the franchise's history. Under first-year manager, Clark Griffith, the 1912 Washington Club posted a 91-61 mark and ended up in second place, 14 games behind the eventual World Champion Boston Red Sox.

Johnson appeared in a remarkable 50 games that year - 37 as a starter - and went 33-12 with a league-leading 1.39 ERA and 303 strikeouts. The following year he was even better as he led the Nationals to their second consecutive 90-win season. "Big Train" went 36-7 with 11 shutouts and a 1.14 ERA, which still stands today as one of the lowest ERAs by a starting pitcher in a single season.

In 1912, 40 year-old team president Thomas C. Noyes fell ill to pneumonia and eventually succumbed to the disease. Noyes had been instrumental in the franchise's improvements since he took over and was replaced as team president by Minor, a prominent Washington attorney. Minor, unable to devote the necessary time to the club, subsequently sold the controlling interest to Griffith and Philadelphia businessman William Richardson in 1919.

Following a 75-78 season in 1923, Griffith made a controversial decision by appointing 27 year-old second baseman Stanley "Bucky" Harris as field manager. Harris was the fifth manager in the previous five seasons for the Nationals, but he guided one of the great reversals in baseball history as the Nationals in 1924 won more games than ever before, 92, and captured their first American League pennant.

In the 1924 World Series, the Nationals took on famed manager John McGraw and the New York Giants. The Series was one of the closest in history as four games were decided by a single run, including the deciding Game Seven. On the strength of Walter Johnson's four innings of relief pitching - on two days' rest - and the Series clinching hit by Earl McNeeley in the bottom of the 12th inning, the Nationals won their first and only World Series Championship.

United States President Calvin Coolidge, who threw out the ceremonial first pitch on three occasions during the Series, paid tribute to the hometown victors immediately following the victory:

"I have only the heartiest praise to bestow upon the individual players of both teams. Naturally, in Washington, we were pleased to see Walter Johnson finish the final game, pitching for our home team. Everybody was pleased to see him come back at the close of the last game. The three contests I witnessed maintained throughout a high degree of skill, and every evidence of high-class sportsmanship which will bring to every observer an increased respect and confidence in our national game."

The following year, Harris once again led the Nationals to a record regular season finish as they posted 96 wins and clinched a second-straight American League pennant. Their second trip to the World Series was just as close but this time they came up short in a seven-game Series to the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Senators had a 7-6 lead entering the bottom of the eighth in Game Seven, but could not hold it as the Pirates scored three runs in the inning off Johnson and held on to clinch the Series victory.

Johnson concluded his amazing 21-year playing career with Nationals in 1927 with career totals of 417-279, a 2.36 ERA, 3,508 strikeouts and a big league-record 110 shutouts. He was among the first class of inductees into the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, NY, in 1936.

The "Big Train" was not gone from the Washington scene long as Griffith brought him back to replace Harris as the Nationals' manager in 1929. Despite posting three straight 90-win seasons, Johnson was removed from his post after the 1932 season and replaced by Joe Cronin, the team's 26 year-old shortstop.

Cronin's first season with the Nationals produced the franchise's best regular season mark ever at 99-53 and its third American League pennant. Washington again faced the New York Giants in the Fall Classic but fell in five games to a team led by the pitching of Carl Hubbell (20 IP, 0 ER) and the hitting of Mel Ott, who clinched the Series for New York with a 10th-inning homer in Game Five.

The Nationals franchise then fell on hard times. Washington won just 66 games in '34 and the team posted only two more winning seasons the next 25 years. The team name was officially changed to Senators for the '56 campaign.

Calvin Griffith, who became team president after his father's death in 1955, was granted permission to seek relocation in Sept. 1960, and an announcement was made in Oct. 1960 that the Senators were being moved to Minneapolis, MN.

At that time, the American League announced plans to expand by two teams for the 1961 season. One team would be located in Los Angeles and the other in Washington, D.C.

EXPANSION SENATORS

An expansion draft was conducted in Boston on December 10, 1960 and the Senators selected the following players at $75,000 each:

PITCHERS	CATCHERS	INFIELDERS	OUTFIELDERS
Pete Burnside	Pete Daley	Chester Boak	Joe Hicks
Dick Donovan	Dutch Dotterer	Bob Johnson	Chuck Hinton
Rudy Hernandez	Gene Green	Billy Klaus	Marty Keough
Ed Hobaugh		Dale Long	Jim King
Johhny Klippstein		Jim Mahoney	Willie Tasby
Hector Maestri		John Schaive	Gene Woodling
Carl Mathias		Coot Veal
Bobby Shantz		Bud Zipfel
Dave Sisler
Tom Sturdivant
Hal Woodeshick

The expansion Senators fared no better than their predecessors, as they lost at least 100 games in each of their first four seasons. In 1964, the Senators acquired five players in a deal with the Los Angeles Dodgers for pitcher Claude Osteen. One of those five players was slugging outfielder and the 1960 National League Rookie of the Year, Frank Howard.

An imposing presence at 6-7, 250 lbs., Howard brought a much-needed offensive punch to the Senators lineup and the Senators win total increased in each of his first three seasons in Washington. After struggling again in 1968, new team president Robert Short brought in Hall of Fame outfielder Ted Williams as the new manager of the Senators.

Howard and his teammates responded to the "Splendid Splinter" during his rookie managerial campaign as Washington's win total improved 21 games to 86 in 1969. It was also Howard's best year in the Majors, as he batted .296 with 48 home runs, 111 RBI and 111 runs scored and finished fourth in the balloting for American League Most Valuable Player.

Unfortunately, the team was unable to build upon their success in '69. The Senators lost 92 games in '70 and 96 in '71. On Sept. 21, 1971, owners approved the transfer of the Senators to Arlington, TX, where it became the Texas Rangers.

After 71 years in the American League and nearly 100 since the debut of professional baseball in the nation's capital, Washington, D.C., hosted its "final" regular season on September 30, 1971 at Robert F. Kennedy Stadium. The Senators moved after the 1971 season and Washington, D.C. was without Major League Baseball until 2005.

WASHINGTON, D.C. BALLPARKS

Pro baseball teams were formed in our nation's capital beginning in the early 1870s and those franchises played their games in ballparks commonly known as Swampoodle Grounds, Capitol Grounds and Boundary Field.

In 1892, the Washington Senators joined the expanding National League and began playing their home games at a site that would host professional baseball games into the early 1960s. From 1892-99, the Senators played at National Park, which had a seating capacity of approximately 6,500. Although never finishing above sixth place, the team drew fairly well, including more than 200,000 fans in 1896.

When the National League contracted from 12 franchises to eight following the 1899 season, the team was disbanded. However, it would only be two seasons before a professional team occupied that site again.

During those 2 years, former Western League president Ban Johnson was working to put together a 2nd Major League to rival the NL. In 1901, the American League began play with 8 franchises, including the Washington Nationals.

This franchise would play its home games on the same site as the previous National League Washington team, but the ballpark was appropriately renamed, American League Base Ball Park and the capacity was expanded to nearly 10,000.

On March 17, 1911, tragedy struck the American League Base Ball Park. The all-wooden ballpark and four surrounding buildings were completely destroyed by a fire started by a plumber's blow lamp and a strong wind. American League Base Ball Park could not be saved as plumbers working on the park's drain pipes had shut off the water supply and by the time fire fighters arrived, the grand stand and bleachers were engulfed in flames. At the time, the loss of the ballpark was estimated at $20,000.

Thomas C. Noyes, president of the Washington franchise, gained approval from the Board of Directors to announce that work would begin immediately on a new ballpark with a steel grandstand. With the players at Spring Training and Opening Day less than a month away, crews worked tirelessly to get the ballpark ready for the home opener.

By Opening Day 1911, the grandstands were sufficiently erected for the Nationals to host the Boston Red Sox with President William Howard Taft in attendance. The work on the ballpark continued when the team was on the road and was completed on July 24, 1911 at a final cost of approximately $100,000. Seating capacity was more than 27,000, including a presidential box near the first base dugout.

In 1920, the American League Base Ball Park was renamed Griffith Stadium in recognition of the franchise's owner and president, Clark Griffith. The only major alteration to the ballpark was also made in 1920 as the double-decked stands were extended from the bases to the foul poles.

During the late-1930s and 1940s, Griffith Stadium had another part-time tenant - the famed Homestead Grays of the Negro Leagues. Originally from Pennsylvania, the Grays played half of their games at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh and half at Griffith Stadium when the Washington franchise was on the road. Some of the most revered players in Negro League history played for the Grays, including Josh Gibson, Buck Leonard, Cool Papa Bell and Sam Bankhead, as they won nine Negro League championships.

Griffith Stadium, which also hosted the Major League Baseball All-Star Game in 1937 and 1956 and three World Series in 1924, 1925 and 1933, remained the home of the Washington franchise until it was moved to Minneapolis following the 1960 season.

The expansion Washington Senators played their inaugural season at Griffith Stadium in 1961 before moving into District of Columbia Stadium for the 1962 season.

After having been the site of professional baseball in Washington, DC, since 1892, the final game at Griffith Stadium was played on Sept. 21, 1961 as the Senators fell to Minnesota, 4-3, before a crowd of 1,498 fans. Griffith Stadium was demolished in 1965 and is now utilized by Howard University. Nearly 1,000 of the original seats from Griffith Stadium were moved to a Spring Training facility near Orlando, Fla., Tinker Field. Those seats remain there today.

A federally-owned stadium, District of Columbia Stadium was a new three-tiered, multi-purpose facility constructed near the Potomac River at a cost of approximately $24 million. The Senators signed a 10-year lease on September 29, 1961 with the D.C. Armory Board for the stadium, which had a seating capacity of 45,016.

On April 9, 1962, the Senators played their first regular season game at District of Columbia Stadium. A crowd of 42,143 - including President John F. Kennedy — saw Senators pitcher Bennie Daniels defeat the Detroit Tigers, 4-1. Interestingly enough, Daniels suffered the loss at both the final game at Ebbets Field in 1957 and the final game at Griffith Stadium in 1961.

Under the direction of the D.C. Armory Board, the stadium was officially renamed Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Stadium on January 18, 1969.

The 1969 Major League Baseball All-Star Game was the fourth hosted by the Senators and the second at RFK Stadium (also first game in 1962). Despite the American League dropping a 9-3 decision to the National League, Washington fans saw future Hall of Famer Willie McCovey hit a pair of homers and hometown favorite Frank Howard hit one as well.

In 1971, the Senators played their final season at RFK Stadium before moving to Arlington, Texas. The final regular season Major League Baseball game was played at RFK on September 30, 1971. Washington hosted the New York Yankees before a crowd of just 14,460 in a game that was never finished. The Senators were holding on to a 7-5 lead with two outs in the top of the ninth inning when fans rushed the field. The umpiring crew could not clear the field and the game was forfeited to the Yankees, 9-0.

RFK Stadium hosted 16 exhibition games involving Major League teams after the Senators moved in 1971. A portion of the proceeds from most of the games was donated to various charities. Attendance at the 16 contests averaged more than 27,600 per game. Following is a listing of those games:

On March 14, 2006, Washington, DC Mayor Anthony Williams, the D.C. Sports & Entertainment Commission and the Washington Nationals unveiled plans for a 41,000-seat state-of-the-art baseball stadium located in Southeast DC. Seven weeks later, on May 4, ground was officially broken on the ballpark site. Washington opended Nationals Park on March 30, 2008 with a 3-2 win over ATL, televised nationally on ESPN's Sunday Night Baseball. President George W. Bush threw the ceremonial first pitch, then Ryan Zimmerman led the club to victory with a game-ending solo shot in the 9th inning.

HISTORY AND RECORDS

THE TRADITION OF OPENING DAY IN WASHINGTON, D.C.

Each Major League Club has its own unique celebration to mark the opening of the Major League Baseball season, but Opening Day in the nation's capital, Washington, D.C., was always a special and sometimes historic event. Washington, D.C.'s Opening Day tradition dates to April 14, 1910. William Howard Taft, the 27th President of the United States, attended the home opener of the Washington Senators against the Philadelphia Athletics. Numerous other government officials, including Vice President James Sherman, joined President Taft at the ballpark.

An overflow crowd of 12,000 fans—the largest baseball crowd in Washington at that time—gave President Taft an standing ovation as he made his way to his seats on the first-base side. Team president Thomas C. Noyes then took the 2 managers—Washington's Jimmy McAleer and Philadelphia's legendary Connie Mack—to meet the President.

Just prior to the start of the game, umpire Billy Evans walked over to President Taft's box and presented him with a new baseball. Evans instructed President Taft that he was to throw the ball from his seat in the stands to Senators pitcher Walter Johnson, who was standing at home plate, to officially commence the start of the American League championship season. After giving the ball briefly to First Lady Helen Taft, the President adjusted his gloves and made a good throw to Johnson, who immediately gave the ball to catcher Charles Street to have it secured in a safe place.

President Taft watched the entire game, a 3-0 Washington victory in which Johnson hurled a one-hit, complete-game shutout. After the game, Johnson sent the historic ball to the White House accompanied by a note to President Taft asking for his autograph on the ball. President Taft returned the ball after penning the following on it:

"For Walter Johnson, with the hope that he may continue to be as formidable as in yesterday's game. William H. Taft."

Although President Taft was the first to throw out a ceremonial first pitch, it was not the first time a President of the United States attended a Major League Baseball game. Benjamin Harrison, the 23rd U.S. President, is believed to be the first sitting President to attend a Major League game when he witnessed a NL game between Cincinnati and Washington in June 1892. That wasn't even the first interaction with a professional baseball team as nine years earlier President Chester A. Arthur welcomed the Cleveland franchise of the National League to the White House.

Having the President throw out the ceremonial first pitch at Washington's home opener was such an enormous success—not only in the nation's capital but around the country—that it led to the American League granting Washington permission to open the American League championship season one day before the rest of the League. This action was approved on December 13, 1927, in recognition of the U.S. President throwing out the ceremonial first pitch.

Including President Taft's precedent-setting throw in 1910, 11 different Presidents have attended a home opener of the Washington Senators a total of 46 times. The Senators posted a 23-23 mark in home openers with a President present.

President Taft (2-0) and Woodrow Wilson (3-0), the 28th U.S. President, were the only two to never see the Senators lose. The only U.S. Presidents never to see Washington win a home opener were Lyndon Johnson (0-3) and Richard Nixon (0-2). Following is the breakdown of Washington's record on Opening Day, listed by President:

PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES	WASHINGTON'S RECORD ON OPENING DAY
Woodrow Wilson (D)	3-0 (1.000)
William Howard Taft (R)	2-0 (1.000)
George W. Bush (R)	2-0 (1.000)
Calvin Coolidge (R)	3-1 (.750)
Warren Harding (R)	2-1 (.667)
Dwight Eisenhower (R)	4-3 (.571)
Franklin Roosevelt (D)	4-4 (.500)
Harry Truman (D)	3-4 (.429)
John F. Kennedy (D)	1-2 (.333)
Herbert Hoover (R)	1-3 (.250)
Richard Nixon (R)	0-2 (.000)
Lyndon Johnson (D)	0-3 (.000)
TOTAL	25-23 (.521)
Democrats	11-13 (.458)
Republicans	14-10 (.583)

Prior to the Senators move to Texas in 1972, each President since Taft was in attendance for a Washington Senators home opener at least once. Several Presidents had to miss on occasion, including President Taft in 1914 because of the sinking of the Titanic and President Wilson in 1918 and 1919 because of World War I.

Since 1972, the tradition of Presidents and Opening Day has continued in other Major League cities. The only President to never throw out a ceremonial first pitch at an Opening Day game was Jimmy Carter. President George W. Bush has continued the legacy, having thrown out the ceremonial first pitch at RFK Stadium on April 14, 2005 to usher the return of baseball to the nation's capitol. He also did the honors at Miller Park in Milwaukee in April of 2001.

WASHINGTON, DC AND THE WORLD SERIES

Washington, DC has hosted three World Series, with the original Washington (AL) Nationals claiming the 1924 World Championship. Washington needed seven games to top the favored New York Giants, a club that was appearing in its 8th World Series in 14 seasons and was managed by John McGraw. The Nationals won despite Walter Johnson losing each of his first 2 starts. However, Washington won, 4-3, in 12 innings as Johnson came out of the 'pen to earn the win in Game 7. The 1924 World Series remains the 2nd of only 4 World Series to be decided in extra innings of the decisive 7th game.

The Washington (AL) Nationals would go on to play in two more Fall Classics, losing both. As defending World Champions in 1925, the Nationals won 92 games and claimed another NL Pennant, but lost to Pittsburgh in 7 games. The Pirates topped the Nationals, 9-7, in Game 7 as Walter Johnson squandered a 4-0 lead after the first inning and eventually suffered the loss. The New York Giants provided payback for the '24 Series by winning the 1933 World Series over the AL Nationals in 5 games.

THE HISTORY OF THE MONTREAL EXPOS (1969-2004)

The city of Montreal had a long association with professional baseball even before it was awarded a Major League franchise in 1968. On April 18, 1946, the Montreal Royals, a minor league affiliate of the Brooklyn Dodgers in the International League, secured their place in baseball history when Jackie Robinson made his professional debut and became the first African-American to play professional baseball in the 20th Century.

More than two decades later as the National League was seeking to expand by two franchises, former Montreal city councillor Gerry Snyder presented the city's formal bid during an owners' meeting in Mexico City, Mexico. Six months later on May 27, 1968, it was announced that Major League Baseball was expanding outside the United States for the first time as Montreal was awarded a National League franchise to begin play in 1969.

Despite some early concerns about the team's financing, Montreal met its initial deposit deadline and officially became a member of the National League on August 14, 1968. Charles Bronfman, a distillery magnate and an original investor, was named chairman with Paul Beaudry and Lorne Webster as vice-chairmen. John McHale was named president and chief executive officer, while Jim Fanning was appointed the team's first general manager.

On September 5, 1968, the Montreal franchise named Gene Mauch field manager. Mauch was returning to familiar ground as he played two seasons for the minor league Montreal Royals in 1943 and 1944. McHale also announced that the team would be known as the Expos, in recognition of Expos 67, an international exhibition that attracted 50 million visitors to the city in 1967.

Only five days later, pitcher Dave Hartman became the first player to sign a contract with the Expos. Hartman never actually played for the Expos or made it to the Major Leagues. However, an expansion draft was conducted on October 14, 1968 and the Expos selected the following 30 players:

Manny Mota, Mack Jones, John Bateman, Gary Sutherland, John Billingham, Donn Clendenon, Jesus Alou, Mike Wegener, Skip Guinn, Bill Stoneman, Maury Wills, Larry Jackson, Bob Reynolds, Dan McGinn, Jose Herrera, Jim Williams, Angel Hermoso, Jim Grant, Jerry Robertson, Don Shaw, Ty Cline, Garry Jestadt, Carl Morton, Larry Jaster, Ernest McAnally, Jim Fairey, Jose Laboy, John Boccabella, Rob Brand and John Glass.

The Expos' first home ballpark was Jarry Park, a converted minor league stadium named after former councillor Raoul Jarry in 1927. Jarry Park's initial capacity was 3,000, but was expanded to 28,450 as the ballpark met MLB standards.

Montreal made its National League debut on April 8, 1969 at Shea Stadium in New York against one of the National League's last expansion teams, the Mets. The Expos held off a furious 9th inning rally to claim an 11-10 victory. Pitcher Dan McGinn hit the first home run in franchise history, a solo shot off future Hall of Famer Tom Seaver in the 4th inning.

Jarry Park hosted its first regular season game six days later as 29,814 fans witnessed Major League Baseball in Canada for the first time. Despite facing a St. Louis Cardinals lineup that featured names such as Lou Brock, Curt Flood, Dal Maxvill and Joe Torre, the Expos treated their fans to an 8-7 win.

One of the highlights of the inaugural season came on April 17 at Connie Mack Stadium in Philadelphia. Bill Stoneman, later a general manager of the Anaheim Angels, pitched the franchise's first no-hitter in defeating the Phillies, 7-0. The Expos would go on to finish the season with a 52-110 mark.

The following season saw Montreal improve by 21 games under Mauch. 26 year-old pitcher Carl Morton went 18-11 with a 3.26 ERA en route to being named 1970 NL Rookie of the Year. In 1973, the Expos made their first pennant chase as they won 79 games and were in the race for the National League East title until the last weekend of the season.

After a few disappointing seasons, the Expos in 1977 moved into Olympic Stadium, which was the main venue for the 1976 Olympic Games. A crowd of 57,592 fans attended the first game at The Big O as the Expos fell to the Phillies, 7-2.

Montreal begun to form the nucleus of a team that would bring home its first NL East title with players such as Ellis Valentine, Andre Dawson, Warren Cromartie, Gary Carter and Steve Rogers. The Expos won 95 games in 1979 only to fall two games shy of the title and was again in the pennant race until the final game of the season 1980.

In '81, the Expos finally cleared the hurdle as they won the NL East's second half title in a season shortened by a players' strike. In a best-of-5 Divisional Series, Montreal topped first-half champion Philadelphia, three games to two, and advanced to its first NLCS.

The NLCS against Tommy Lasorda's Los Angeles Dodgers went down to the ninth inning of the fifth and deciding game. With the game tied at 1-1, Dodgers outfielder Rick Monday hit a two-out solo homer off Rogers. The Expos put two runners on in the bottom of the ninth, but could not tie the score as Los Angeles advanced to the World Series.

HISTORY AND RECORDS

In 1982, Montreal hosted the first Major League Baseball All-Star Game to be held outside of the United States. The National League won its 11th consecutive Midsummer Classic on the strength of a home run by Cincinnati's Dave Concepcion. Five players represented the Expos on the NL squad: Carter, Rogers, Dawson, Tim Raines and Al Oliver.

Montreal remained competitive throughout much of the next decade, including 91 wins in 1987 by a team led by Raines, Andres Galarraga, Hubie Brooks and Tim Wallach.

Bronfman sold the franchise to team president Claude Brochu on June 14, 1991. The next season Brochu appointed long-time Montreal coach Felipe Alou as field manager. Alou guided the Expos to 87 victories and a second place finish in his first year at the helm and then improved upon that with 94 wins in 1993.

The 1994 season saw a core group of players such as Larry Walker, Marquis Grissom, Moises Alou, Pedro Martinez, Ken Hill and John Wetteland storm out to a 74-40 mark - the best in the Major Leagues - and a six-game lead in the newly-formed National League East on August 11. However, the season was never completed. A players' strike began the following day that would wipe out the remainder of the 1994 schedule.

After the changing economics of the baseball landscape forced the Expos to trade some of those core players, the '95 team finished in last place in the NL East. It was only the second time since '77 that Montreal finished in last place.

Two years later, Martinez continued to establish himself as one of the top starting pitchers in the Major Leagues. He posted a 17-8 record with a 1.90 ERA, 305 strikeouts and 13 complete games en route to being the first Expos' pitcher to win the National League Cy Young Award. That winter, Martinez was traded to the Boston Red Sox.

The 1998 season was marked by stellar individual performances on the field and uncertainty off the field. 22 year-old outfielder Vladimir Guerrero displayed his immense talent by setting six Montreal records, including the club single season home run mark. Also, 24 year-old closer Ugueth Urbina recorded 34 saves with a 1.30 ERA, and Alou became the franchise's most successful manager with his 521st victory on August 19.

Off the field, Brochu continued to struggle in an attempt to finalize funding for a new downtown ballpark and announced his willingness to sell his shares of the franchise. In 1999, Jeffrey Loria was officially approved as the Expos controlling person following a buy-back of Brochu's shares. In February 2002, Major League Baseball approved the sale of the Florida Marlins to Loria and the sale of the Expos to Major League Baseball and the 29 other Major League Clubs. A new Expos senior management team was announced: Tony Tavares (president), Omar Minaya (general manager) and Hall of Famer Frank Robinson (field manager). Baseball Commissioner Allan H. (Bud) Selig also announced the formation of a relocation committee to seek a permanent home for the franchise.

The 2003 and 2004 seasons saw the Expos make baseball history by playing a portion of their home schedule at Hiram Bithorn Stadium in San Juan, Puerto Rico. Fans in Puerto Rico celebrated the return of Major League Baseball to the island country. The Expos drew nearly 530,000 fans and posted a 20-23 mark over their 43 games played at Hiram Bithorn Stadium during the two-season trial. On September 29, 2004, Commissioner Selig announced the formal approval of the relocation of the Expos franchise to the nation's capital, Washington, D.C., for the 2005 season.

The new Nationals Park set a new standard for ballpark design, reflecting a unique combination of influences which include:

- The innovative arrangement of building masses, materials, systems and technologies for a forward-looking architectural expression that is unique to its location in Washington, D.C.
- Adherence to the best time-tested principles of urban design to ensure accessibility, approachability and fan-friendliness that will rival any ballpark the nation.
- Use of state of the art ballpark design concepts to ensure the best game presentation and viewing experience for all fans.
- Application of sustainable or "Green" design principles to achieve an environmentally sensitive ballpark.

INNOVATIVE ARCHITECTURE, UNIQUE TO DC

The asymmetrical massing of the ballpark responds to each aspect of its surrounding urban context:

- To the envisioned grand boulevard of South Capitol Street, the ballpark presents a monumental facade of architectural precast concrete, metal, and glass with features and articulation consistent with the traditions of D.C.'s best civic buildings. This monumental facade is enlivened by hints of the excitement within the ballpark through ground-level openings offering views into the interior of the seating bowl at street intersections, and through the glass curtain wall enclosing spectator functions that serve the upper levels .
- Anchored by this mass, the seating bowl sweeps to the south and east in a circular expression of steel and concrete that offers openness and promontory views out to the Anacostia waterfront.

The composition is unified by a simple yet dramatic gesture of a triangular point at the south end that is evocative of the geometry of L'Enfant's plan for the District and is subtly reminiscent of the majestic simplicity of our Nation's Monuments. This structure, allowing views both up the South Capitol facade and through an open plaza to the sweep of the seating bowl to the east, presents a dynamic gateway element to the approach into the city from the South.

An architectural language of modern steel structure and glass gives the building an openness and connectedness between interior and exterior that allows its activities to be visible from various outside elevations and allows the building to serve as a beacon when illuminated at night.

The structure is crowned with a unique blade-like sunscreen structure that serves as a recognizable icon from the ground and across the City's skyline. When illuminated from beneath at night, it signals the drama of the activity within.

A pair of vertical circulation ramps running the full height of the building affords fans alternating views into the ballpark and out to the surrounding city, including the Anacostia River, the Capitol Dome and other landmarks such as the Washington Monument

TIME-TESTED URBAN DESIGN

The ballpark is sited and oriented to present a dramatic welcoming image and ease of access to fans. Because of the large number of patrons that arrive from the North (whether from the Navy Yard Metro Station, from parking distributed throughout the neighborhood to the north, or on foot from offices or residential neighborhoods to the north), a large entry plaza at the terminus of Half Street at N Street funnels the pedestrian approaches to the ballpark entry gates. The fans enter the main concourse at grade which wraps around the entire ballpark affording views to the playing field at all times. The views into the ballpark down Half Street and from other approaches to the north present a breathtaking vista of the entire upper and lower decks and views to the playing field.

The ballpark is located to fit within the existing surrounding street geometry and make gestures of entry respectful of the L'Enfant plan. Gates and openings penetrate the structure where streets terminate at the facades.

The ballpark's perimeter consists of a variety of active elements, such as open views into the ballpark and retail spaces, which enliven and activate the surrounding city environment, both on game-days and non-game-days alike.

The ballpark is sited for maximum ease of access, whether by Metro, by car, or by foot. Major entrances are oriented toward the Navy Yard subway station, located just one block away, and parking is distributed both on-site and at a variety of off-site locations, allowing for a dispersal of vehicular traffic to a variety of points around the periphery of the ballpark district.

CUTTING-EDGE GAME PRESENTATION AND VIEWING EXPERIENCE

The ballpark is equipped with all of the most advanced audio-visual technology, food service venues and family-friendly entertainment and gaming alternatives to ensure a compelling and engaging game-day experience.

The seating decks are arranged to create a variety of distinct seating "neighborhoods", each with its own identity and viewing experience.

Entering through the main concourse, 55% of fans are able to enter the ballpark and access their seats without using vertical circulation such as ramps, stairs, escalators or elevators.

The main concourse offers an almost complete 360-degree open view of the playing field, so that fans circulating the concourse or purchasing their fares at a concession stand can still view the game.

Suites, the upscale Lexus Presidents Club, the newly-renovated PNC Diamond Club, and Club level amenities provide the opportunity for the most elegant corporate or personal entertainment opportunities of any ballpark in America.

The PNC Diamond Club, renovated for the 2010 season, offers numerous enhancements including a brand-new glass storefront system complimented by an elegant stone entry foyer. Once inside, members will notice a host of new finishes including carpeting, old-style red brick walls, enhanced lighting and sound systems. Our members will be able to relax in comfortable leather lounge chairs while watching new and larger HD flat-screen televisions while rooting the Nationals on to victory. Members will experience a newly enlarged and updated kitchen that will increase their dining pleasure both inside the Club and in their seats.

GREEN DESIGN

Nationals Park is one of the most environmentally friendly stadiums in America, with particular attention to issues affecting the health of the Anacostia River such as storm water management and minimization of water pollution.

Nationals Park is also the first major stadium in the U.S. accredited as a "LEED-certified", environmentally friendly building.

The DC Sports and Entertainment Commission authorized the Nationals Park design team to create an environmentally friendly park. Elements of the project that contribute to LEED Certification efforts are as follows:

A sustainable site

Nationals Park, located near the Anacostia River, will be categorized as a brownfield redevelopment. It is anticipated that the ballpark will serve as an anchor for urban revitalization of the area.

- The ballpark site is a part of the Voluntary Clean Up Program which provides an opportunity to leave the 25-acre site a much better environment than when it was received
- Environmental remediation efforts are on-going
- The ballpark is easily accessible to public transportation including access to metro stations and local bus routes
- Parking for fuel efficient vehicles and car pools is provided in the on-site garages

Use of materials

Water conserving plumbing fixtures are used throughout the project offering substantial water consumption savings. Energy conserving light fixtures are installed including high efficiency field lighting. Building materials used on the project contain a minimum of 10% recycled content and other interior materials including adhesives, carpet glues and paints have low VOC contents. Many building materials were produced regionally, cutting down on transportation costs while promoting the local economy. Landscape plant materials are drought resistant, conserving water by eliminating the need for irrigation. Roof materials offer a high degree of reflectance, minimizing the amount of heat released to the environment.

- A 6,300 square foot green roof is located above a concession area beyond left field

An intricate ground and stormwater filtration system

Due to the ballpark's proximity to the Anacostia River, care was taken to treat storm and ground water runoff. The result is a unique intricate water filtration system that separates water used for cleaning the ballpark from rainwater falling on the ballpark and treats both sources of water before it is released to sanitary and stormwater systems. Special care was also given to screening organic debris, i.e. peanut shells, from the stormwater system

About LEED

LEED is a rating system that was designed to guide and distinguish high performance buildings that have less of an impact on the environment, are healthier for those who work and/or live in the building, and are more profitable than their conventional counterparts

It is a performance-oriented rating system where building projects earn points for satisfying criterion designed to address specific environmental impacts inherent in the design, construction, operations and management of a building

The rating system is organized into five environmental categories: Sustainable Sites, Water Efficiency, Energy and Atmosphere, Materials and Resources, and Indoor Environmental Quality. An additional category, Innovation and Design, awards points to LEED projects that develop new solutions, employ new technologies, educate, or realize exemplary performance in another area.

LEED for New Construction ratings are awarded according to the following scale:

- Certified: 26-32 points
- Silver: 33-38 points
- Gold: 39-51 points
- Platinum: 52-69 points

CONSTRUCTION FACTS

History of the Site
- Layers of fill and brick were found 12-14 feet below grade, indicating the probability of road and habitation at this level in the 1800s

Excavation
- A total of 340,948 cubic yards or 34,095 truckloads of soil was excavated
- A typical truck can hold 10 cubic yards or 25,000 pounds of dirt
- Approximately 4,500 cubic yards or 450 truckloads of dirt were removed each day
- There were 185,087 cubic yards of contaminated soil that was cleaned and sent to a landfill
- Some portions of the excavation required digging below the water table
- A total of approximately 2,400 piles were driven to 55 foot depth, which equals a total of 25 miles of piling

Steel
- The completed ballpark has 3500 pieces of steel in the bowl, equaling 7800 tons

Concrete
- The heaviest pre-cast unit is 55,000 pounds
- Approximately 58,000 cubic yards of cast-in-place concrete were used

Fire Protection
Nationals Park contains the following components:
- 65,000 feet of pipe
- 1 fire pump
- 25 – 30 wet sprinkler systems
- 6 – 7 dry sprinkler systems
- 2 pre – action systems
- 7,000 sprinkler heads

Mechanical Facts
The ballpark encompasses approximately:
- 9 miles of pipe
- 600,000 pounds of mechanical ducts
- 110 plumbing fixtures

Electrical Facts
Nationals Park is home to:
- Over 3 million feet of power wire
- 714,000 watts of light used, the equivalent of 11,900 60-watt bulbs
- 180,000 hours of manpower to install electrical systems
- 14,000 lights

Fun Facts
- If you stretched Nationals Park like a slinky into a boomerang curve, it would be a quarter mile long
- Inspiration for the look of the ballpark was taken from the East Wing of the National Gallery of Art, by architect I. M. Pei
- More than half of the crowd will walk straight off the street into their seats, without ever climbing elevators, ramps or stairs because the field is 24 feet below street level and the main concourse is the same height as the sidewalk
- HOK borrowed an odd right-angled jog into the right centerfield fence from the now demolished Griffith Stadium, former home of the Washington Senators

THE FIELD

WASHINGTON NATIONALS RADIO (WFED-1500 AM)

On November 15, 2006, the Washington Nationals extended a contract with Bonneville International Corporation to continue as its radio partner. The continuity was appreciated throughout the region, as Bonneville has broadcast Nationals baseball since the franchise moved to DC for the 2005 season.

Nationals games in 2010 can be heard in/around DC on Federal News Radio (1500AM, 820AM, 1050AM) and on one of 7 radio affiliates throughout the Maryland, Virginia (including both Richmond and Norfolk) and West Virginia. Select exhibition games, as well as the entire 162-game regular-season schedule will be broadcast by Charlie Slowes and Dave Jageler, who return for a 5th consecutive season in 2009. Slowes has been with the Nationals since the club's inaugural campaign, while Jageler enters his 5th year.

Bonneville International, which owns Federal News Radio, is a media company with radio, television, satellite, and advertising properties in DC, Chicago, Phoenix, San Francisco, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Seattle and Salt Lake City.

CHARLIE SLOWES

2010 marks the 13th consecutive season and 17th overall calling Major League Baseball for Slowes, the original play-by-play voice of the Nationals. Slowes joined the Nationals on February 24, 2005, and it did not take long for his trademark "Bang Zoom go the Fireworks," followed by, "A Curly 'W' is in the Books" tag lines after Nationals victories to become part of Beltway lexicon. His post with the Nationals was a return to the Washington, DC area for Charlie, who became the Radio Voice of the Washington Bullets in 1986 at just 25 years of age. He went on to broadcast Bullets game for 11 seasons (1986-87 to 1996-97), the longest run in franchise history until eclipsed by his succesor and current Wizards' voice Dave Johnson. Included in that time were 2 years of TV-radio simulcasts. Slowes made the switch to Major League Baseball full-time, becoming an original voice of the expansion Tampa Bay Devil Rays in 1998, calling Rays games for their first 7 seasons. Slowes is among the many, including Hall-of-Famer Vin Scully, to enter sports broadcasting after graduating from Fordham University in New York and having honed his craft on Fordham's 50,000-FM blowtorch, WFUV 90.7 FM. Shortly after graduation, Charlie's first career job was with KMOX Radio in St. Louis, where for 3 years (1984-86), he was exposed to the likes of broadcasting greats Bob Costas and the late Jack Buck. Slowes worked in a variety of on-air functions for broadcasts of St. Louis Cardinals Baseball, St. Louis Cardinals Football, St. Louis Blues Hockey and St. Louis University Basketball play-by-play as well as sportscasts and sports talk shows. Charlie broadcast Tidewater Tides Triple-A baseball for parts of 4 seasons from 1986-92. He has also broadcast at the national network level with NBC-TV and CBS Radio for their MLB Game of the Week. Slowes has also called baseball for the Baltimore Orioles (1989-1990) and the New York Mets (1988, 1991). He's also dabbled in bowling and boxing for ESPN and MISL soccer (play-by-play with New York Arrows in 1983) in 2-plus decades as a play-by-play broadcaster. During the 2007-2008 off-season, Slowes returned courtside for some college basketball play-by-play, filling in on the University of South Florida-ISP Sports Network. Charlie, his wife, Tina, and sons, Jim (4/6/94) and Alex (10/11/97), split time between homes in Alexandria, VA and Palm Harbor, FL.

DAVE JAGELER

Jageler enters his 5th season with the Nationals after spending the 2005 campaign as the radio and TV voice of the Pawtucket Red Sox of the Triple-A International League. Jageler joined Gary Cohen (Mets), Don Orsillo (Red Sox), Dave Flemming (Giants) and Andy Freed (Devil Rays) as Pawtucket products who have graduated to the major leagues in recent years. Prior to joining Pawtucket, Jageler worked in Boston co-hosting an afternoon talk show as well as serving in various capacities with the Boston Celtics radio network, including fill in play-by-play. Jageler spent 6 years in Charlotte as the voice of UNC-Charlotte basketball and co-hosting a morning drive talk show. While in Charlotte, he built his baseball resume with the Triple-A Charlotte Knights in the '95, '96 and '01 seasons doing play-by-play. Jageler's voice may sound familiar to some in DC, as he served as a host on the Virginia Tech Sports Network during the 1993-94 basketball season. He has also served as the studio host for Westwood One's NHL Game of the Week, the Florida State and Texas Longhorns football networks and has done fill-in play-by-play for both the Seminoles and Longhorns. The Windsor, CT native is a graduate of Syracuse University's S.I. Newhouse School of Public Communications, where he began his play-by-play career broadcasting Syracuse football and basketball games on WAER and baseball for the Triple-A Syracuse Chiefs on Time Warner Cable and Empire Sports Network. Dave and his wife, Jennifer, have 2 children, Jared (10) and Sarah (6).
